

COCKFIGHTS IN PLENTY
ON CONNECTICUT BORDER

"Gen. Pershing" Suffers Defeat in One Main in Woods After Twenty-Minute Battle.

ONECO, Conn., Nov. 28.—While the police centred their attention elsewhere, half a dozen cocking mains were held yesterday in this State and Rhode Island in wooded spots near the border.
At Longwoods, on the Westerly, R. I., Road, six scraps were won by Connecticut birds and five by Rhode Islanders.

hundreds of dollars changing hands on the results.
Many were at lively cockpits near Thomson, Conn.; North Stonington, Conn., and West Greenwich, R. I.
Gen. Pershing, a Rhode Island scrapper, 24 top weight, natural spurs, was beaten in a fierce twenty-minute bout by a bird of the same weight.

To Discuss Railroad Problem.
The railroad problem will be discussed at a meeting of the Public Forum of the Central Jewish Institute, No. 125 West 85th Street, next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Ivy L. Lee, formerly assistant to the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, now a member of the Association of Railway Executives, will speak on the Plumb plan of railroad ownership and the proposal of the railway executives for solution of the railroad problem. The public is invited.

FEW RUSSIAN WOMEN AT ASCENSION SERVICE

Miss Todd Tells Them It Is Hoped to Equip Milk and Medicine Ship for Country.

Only a small representation of Russian women attended the Thanksgiving service to which they were specially invited at the Church of the Ascension last night. "The spirit, however, is here," said Miss Helen Todd, at the tea in the Parish House after the service. "We are going on to get better acquainted."

Miss Todd represented the Women's Emergency Committee, which recently organized a "parade of protest" of society women against the blockade which prevents the sending of milk and medicine to Russian children.
"We American women want you Russian women to understand that our love of children is as strong as your own and that we are deeply opposed to this blockade," said Miss Todd. "We take no political sides.
Our position is merely that all children should have food." She outlined plans for a parade of children in protest against the blockade and announced that the committee hopes to equip a milk and medicine ship for Russia before Christmas.

(A) The distended B hip line is very chic in this velour
model simulating
the Eton, $18.

THIS is just the time of the year when an extra little frock is needed to fill in one's wardrobe.
When it can be obtained at a considerable saving in price—yet with considerable smartness in style—it becomes doubly essential.

In these frocks the material and workmanship are excellent... the styles—some of the best this season... the trimmings tasteful... many lavishly embroidered or braided. Brown, Taupe, Reindeer, Navy, Black. All sizes represented, though not in every style.

Economy and smartness happily combine to make these dresses acceptable to every matron and miss.
